In light of recent polar bear sightings in Nunavut communities, the Department of Environment would like to remind all Nunavut residents that they should immediately call their local wildlife office if they see a bear.

Contact details for all wildlife offices can be found at <http://env.gov.nu.ca/contactus>.

Do not approach the bear. Do not go out to try and find the bear if you hear of a sighting. The work of the conservation officer will be made more difficult if there are people in the vicinity of the bear.
