National Inquiry on Murdered and Missing Indigenous Women and Girls

Start Date: September 14, 2016 End Date: November 30, 2016

Nunavut-wide 45 secs

The Government of Canada recently announced the National Inquiry on Murdered and Missing Indigenous Women and Girls (MMIWG).

The inquiry's commissioners will travel across the country to investigate and report on the causes of violence against Indigenous women and girls, and what is effective in reducing violence.

The Inquiry is an important step towards reconciliation and building trust between the Government of Canada and Indigenous peoples in Canada.

The commissioners will come to various communities in Nunavut, with dates and locations to be determined this fall. The Government of Nunavut (GN) is here to help throughout this process.

If you are a survivor, a family member or loved one of a victim, please call the GN victims services toll-free line at 1-866-456-5216 to speak to someone about the Inquiry and how you may be able to participate.

If you or someone you know needs help or support, you can also call the national, toll-free crisis call line 24/7 at 1-844-413-6649 or the Nunavut Kamatsiaqtut Help Line at 1-800-265-3333.
