In the spirit of Avatittinnik Kamatsiarniq, this week is about:

- Respecting the land – Celebrate the land that provides for us by keeping it clean, healthy, and thriving.
- Making mindful choices – Small daily actions – like turning off lights, recycling, or choosing reusable items – can make a big difference.
- Learning and sharing – A chance to share knowledge, raise awareness and inspire others to work toward a more sustainable future.

This week is a time to reflect, reconnect with the land, honour Inuit knowledge and values, and take meaningful steps to protect our environment for future generations.
