The Departments of Education and Transportation and Infrastructure Nunavut will hold a second set of public information sessions about the future of Iqaluit schools from November 4 to 6, 2025.

Parents/guardians and other members of the public will receive an update of the options resulting from the September 2024 community feedback sessions looking at the current physical state of the Joamie, Nakasuk and Nanook schools, and will have the chance to provide additional feedback.

Each Iqaluit elementary school will host a consultation meeting open to the public and to parents and caregivers of students of each individual school.

Nakasuk School: Tuesday, November 4, 6:30 p.m. – 8:30 p.m. ET

Joamie School: Wednesday, November 5, 6:30 p.m. – 8:30 p.m. ET

Nanook School: Thursday, November 6, 6:30 p.m. – 8:30 p.m. ET

These consultations are part of the Government of Nunavut’s capital planning process, aimed at developing an information-driven plan for future school development.
