Filing taxes using CRA's free SimpleFile tool

Start Date: March 12, 2026
End Date: March 19, 2026
Nunavut 30 sec

The Department of Finance reminds Nunavummiut that the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) offers SimpleFile as a free service to help eligible Canadians file their income tax and benefit return. The service is designed to make tax filing free, fast and secure for individuals with a lower income.

If eligible, individuals may receive an invitation package in early March through their CRA account or by mail. The invitation includes information on how to file using the service.

Invited individuals may be able to file their taxes using:

- SimpleFile Digital – file online in just a few clicks, with no forms or fees.
- SimpleFile by Phone – file using an automated phone service.

Even if you do not receive an invitation, you may still be able to file using the digital option. An online questionnaire is available to help determine eligibility.

Filing a tax return helps determine if you are eligible for benefit payments, tax credits, or a refund.

For more information, visit the Canada Revenue Agency website.
